

"Letters To Lucerne" To Be Benefit For Armed Forces

The entire proceeds of "Letters To Lucerne," which is to be presented November 5, at 8:30 p.m. in Russell auditorium, will be given to the American Theater Wing War Service. Miss Edna West has announced.

The American Theater Wing War Service is the organization which sponsors stage door canteens and entertainment centers in various camps throughout the country. This organization is supported by other organizations which give their services, and by players who give benefit performances. The GSCW College Theatre is among the first groups in the South to respond with a benefit performance. "Letters to Lucerne" is particularly suited for such a performance because of its timeliness.

Especially because the entire proceeds will go for army and navy relief, everyone is urged to attend. The prices are 25 and 30 cents. No one may be seated after the play has begun.

Members of the cast, as yet unannounced, are:

Eloise Clark as Bingo, an American girl; Sidney Clark, remembered for his performances in "Pirates of Penzance," and "Pinafore," as Hans; Max Noah as Gustave, the gardener; Austin Reep as Francois, the postman; Dr. Charles Smith as Kopfer, the policeman.

Fourteen Named Members Of IRC

Fourteen students have accepted invitations of membership in the International Relations Club. Membership is based on high academic standards in social science. Of these girls, 11 are regular members and three are associate members.

The members are Martha Duke, of Eatonton; Kathryn Dennon, Sumner; Jeanne Power, Woodstock; Eugenia Hollingsworth, Climax; Madeleine Lanier, Seberton; Ruth Walker, Cairo; Jo Anne Hayes, Warm Springs; Helen Hall, Irwinton; Doris Proctor, Brooklet; Faye Hancock, Atlanta; and Elizabeth Andrews, Greenville.

Joan Dewitt, Milledgeville; Mary Kennedy, Oaxton; and Jane Harrell, of Thomasville, are new associate members.

Students Vacate Three Dormitories

The vacating of Ennis, Mayfair, and Mansion has changed the number of girls housed in each dormitory. Under the new setup, there are 89 girls in Atkinson, 46 in Beeson, 193 in Bell, 70 in Bell Annex, 117 in Sanford, 96 Terrell Proper, 86 in Terrell A, and 143 in Terrell B and C.

Moving day found some of the housemothers in new dormitories also. Mrs. Georgia Wallace has moved from Ennis to Bell; Miss Nora Cone, from Mansion to Bell Annex; Mrs. Martha Christian, from Bell to Terrell Proper; and Mrs. Nan Clements, from Terrell Proper to Terrell B and C. Mrs. Marie F. Martin remained in Atkinson; Mrs. E. C. Beaman, in Beeson; Miss Lottie Neese in Sanford; and Mrs. Orion Bowden, in Terrell A.

Members of the faculty have had a taste of moving this week, too, when they changed their addresses. Miss Ethel Adams and Miss Tommie Maxwell moved to Sanford. Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Reep and Mr. and Mrs. George Haslam moved to apartments in Beeson.

Sampley To Speak At Vespers Sunday P.M.

Mary Nell Sampley, Methodist student worker, will head the YWCA vesper program Sunday evening. She will speak at 6:30 in Russell auditorium.

Clubs To Present College With Flag

The minor campus organizations, cooperatively, will present a service flag to the college which will be hung in Russell auditorium. Stars in the flag will represent GSCW students' fathers and brothers who are in the armed forces.

This decision was made by the presidents and vice presidents of the clubs at a meeting Thursday afternoon. This project is a part of the work of the Key Center for Civilian Defense Information and Morale Training. Miss Lena Martin is director of the minor organizations participating in the key center work.

GSC Is Land Of Nomads For Patriotic All-Out Move

By BEE McCORMACK

With the necessity for making way for the WAVES, we set out to do our part by vacating Mansion, Mayfair, and Ennis. Little did we realize the full significance of the small word "move" when instructions as to how to proceed were issued to us by Dean Adams, but a visit to the hallowed corridors of the Terrells, Bells, or any of the other suffering dormitories during the past week would have given an idea of the general upset condition.

Light bulbs, bottles, glasses, and all sorts of breakables suffered most. Of course, magazines, books, and the like took an awful licking, but somehow school books seem to be made of an indestructible material.

An interesting fact to note is that this juggling act helped our education remarkably. We have learned through a concrete example that three sets of curtains just won't work on two windows and then, too, many a girl never knew the uncanny ability of blues to clash until her new roommates had blue bed spreads, too.

Closets yielded to an overload of clothes and junk as three girls struggled for a few feet each in its limited space. Drawers offered a real mathematical problem. Seven drawers just

Students Assist In Rolling Bandages

The Home Economics clubs plan to sponsor an evening class for the rolling of surgical dressings, in cooperation with the local Red Cross. All students are asked to sign up in Chappell Hall for assisting in this work. According to present plans, Chappell Hall will be available at night for the bandage rolling class.

Mrs. Green, local Red Cross worker, told members of the Home Economics club Tuesday night how they could assist the Red Cross in the war effort program. She stated that students could assist in such activities as bandage rolling.

BOOTH ELECTED ANNUAL BUSINESS MANAGER

Nancy Booth has recently been elected business manager of the 1942-43 Spectrum, college annual. She is a senior from Cocoa, Fla.

Six Compete For President: Ten Other Nominations In For Remaining Offices

Six students will contest for presidency of the freshman class in the primary elections next Monday. Polls will be open from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m.

Helen Wallace, Carene Ogletree, Lucille Finney, Patsy Ingle, Betty Cleveland, and Helen Akin will enter the race for this office.

Candidates for the class positions were nominated by members of the freshman class last week.

Other Candidates

Dorothy Tregone, Mary Elizabeth Meadows, and Sally Williams will compete in the race for vice president.

Unopposed are Betty Boyd, for secretary; and Peggy George for treasurer.

Three students, Janet Fowler, Penelope Nesbit, and Betty Grace Hodges have been nominated for representative to Student Council.

In the race for representative to Upper Court, Leila Calhoun and Lucia Bone will compete against each other.

If a run-over election is necessary, it will be held next Wednesday.

Soph Y Sponsors Carnival Tonight

A Halloween carnival will be sponsored by the Sophomore Y club in the GSCW gymnasium at 8 o'clock tonight. All students are invited and may bring dates. Costumes may be worn.

The committees in charge of planning the carnival are Harriet Floyd, president and ex-officio member of all committees; Muriel Mobley, Jerry Glover, and Eugenia Hollingsworth, entertainment; Alicetyne Wade, refreshments; and Mary Frances Murchison, publicity.

Soldier In England Wants Colonnade

A soldier in England, and a former GMC student, Lieut. Joe Uhler, in a recent letter to Dr. Paul Boesen, requested that The Colonnade be sent to him. He stated that he missed GMC and GSCW, and was interested in keeping posted on the news.

Last May Lieut. Uhler received his commission, and he entered the armed forces in July. He is now stationed with the anti-tank forces, in England. His home is in Johnstown, Penn., but he attended GMC for the past two years where he played football.

Editors To Attend Meet In Chicago

Virginia Austin, editor of the Spectrum, and Paula Bretz, editor of the Colonnade, will attend the Associated Collegiate Press convention in Chicago next week, November 5-7. Convention headquarters will be at the Knickerbocker hotel.

This will probably be the last national ACP convention for the duration of the war. Leading newsmen, yearbook authorities, and magazine editors, will present straightforward information on what is being done by college publications to help win World War II.

Army and navy public relations officers and a representative of the office of censorship will be present.

Dormitory Elections To Be Next Week

Elections of dormitory officers will be held in all dormitories, except Sanford, next week, Monday through Friday. Officials from Student Council will conduct the elections at 10:30 p.m.

The senior class officers are automatically officers for Sanford hall.

Southern Buyers Meet Next Week

The Educational Buyers Association of the southern region will meet here Friday and Saturday. Several national officers will participate in the program.

Representatives from the chief business offices of the colleges in Georgia, Alabama, Florida, North and South Carolina are expected to attend.

This will be the first time that a southern regional meeting has included delegates from five states.

Catherine Copeland Killed In Accident

Catherine Copeland, who was a sophomore from Tennille, and two other college students, were killed Saturday afternoon in an airplane crash, ten miles north of Sandersville. The others were Grady E. Mertz, Jr., and Edgar Whatley, students at the University of Georgia.

Catherine roomed in Atkinson hall.

Leisure Time To Be Spent In Some Useful Recreation

By PEARL CULLIFER

Leisure has been defined as "time unoccupied; spare time"—something which no GSCW student would claim kin with, which none would admit casual acquaintance. But leisure is our bosom friend—it's with us every day, every hour.

In a newspaper once there was a shocking estimate that we sleep on the average of 21 solid years of our lives, assuming that we live to be 70; that we spend 18 years doing our share of the world's work; that we spend three years in eating; one and a half years in sickness; two and a half years in bathing, dressing, and the like. However, after that we have about 25 years of free time in which to make the most of ourselves. It sounds incredible to say that we have 25 years of time which is all our own—25 years which can make us or break us.

"Leisure," said Aristotle, "is the principle which determines all." Teaching the best use of leisure time is not only one of the cardinal principals of education; it is the chief end of education. Have we enriched our lives by learning at GSCW the worthy use of leisure? If not, our education thus far has been a failure.

Many of us abuse our leisure as a child abuses a new doll; in frantic haste and eagerness we squeeze the stuffing out of it. Hurry is our national weakness—a sense of leisureness is our greatest need. A goddess hands leisure to us with a smile knowing its potential possibilities for good or ill according to the use we make of it. We must educate ourselves in the worthy use of leisure.

GSCW offers a wide range of delightful leisure time activities. As students, we must choose the activities which we like best. We must draw a line because one student cannot take an active part in all activities offered.

In our selection of leisure activities, we must think of the ones from which we will benefit physically, mentally, emotionally, and socially. Play is the answer—we must satisfy our play instinct, the greatest natural enjoyment in life. Play is a VITAL part of any woman's life! The Recreation association is anxious to help us develop the skill necessary for complete enjoyment, of this more or less complete expression called play or recreation. The association wants us to enjoy the most beautiful life possible and to grow into the richest and fullest womanhood possible. We should tryout for the skill clubs. In most of these clubs, membership has reached its lowest ebb because of our lack of cooperation. Intramural activities, which once attracted the attention of the entire school, are engaged in by only a minority of students. Shall we play, or grow stiff in our tracks? We may choose the path of life or pass it by—let's become educated!

Modern Dance Club Members Named

Beena McKunkin, Jane Reeve, and Glynise Smith were admitted into the Modern Dance club after three consecutive weeks of try-outs.

Form and skill in modern dance techniques and ability to compose dances are considered in selecting members.

New Penguin Club Members Named

Sixteen students have been named new members by the Penguin club, Flo Finney, president, announced Monday night after try-outs. They are:

Lela Calhoun, Betty Gooden, Virginia Jones, Betty B. Anderson, Sara Penh, Bee McCormack, Berma Smith, Martha Howard, Annette Buckner, Lucille Finney, Blanche Williams, Denese Smith, Elizabeth Carey, Carolyn Jones, Carolyn Winberley, Rosaly Bynum.

Admission was based on form and skill in swimming, the breast stroke, front crawl, back crawl, and elementary back stroke.

Girls Form First Tumbling Club

New members have been selected to form the first Tumbling Club at GSCW.

They include: Grace Bonner, Pearl Cullifer, Pete Diaz, Jane Davis, Betty Hargrove, Marie Hargrove, Marjorie Hughes, Miss Blake Jones, Catherine Jones, Peggy Jones, Margaret Keel, Myrtle Keel, Millie Mabbett, Edith Murray, Bee McCormack, Roena McKunkin, Jane Reeve, Wynelle Skedburn, Berma Smith, Glynise Smith, Sara Taylor, Margaret Wilson, and Rosalie Dormally.

Avoid These Few Simple Directions

It is really a simple matter to secure athlete's foot for a guest and requires no engraved invitation or earnest consultation of Emily Post—just follow these simple rules:

1. Paddle around in a public shower and do not bother to use an antiseptic solution on your feet when you reach home.
 2. Use any old towel that is handy, whether fresh or not.
 3. Give your feet a few hasty pats after bathing and NEVER dry between your toes.
 4. Wear ill-fitting shoes that cause your feet to perspire and burn.
 5. Borrow other people's shoes, socks and slippers and wear them.
 6. Walk around bare-footed at any and every opportunity.

SCRAP DRIVE HERE IS BIG SUCCESS

Baldwin county has raised three million pounds of scrap, more than its quota, according to B. H. Jackson, county chairman. A million pounds of scrap was collected Thursday, October 22, and another Scrap Day will be observed on Armistice Day, November 11.

Miss Billie Jennings has been appointed to handle the collection of the scrap at GSCW. All students are urged to contribute whatever they can toward the drive.

Twelve Seniors Move To Tigner, Vinson

Twelve seniors, who are majoring in home economics, are moving into the home management houses this week-end for a six week period. The following students have been assigned to the houses:

Tigner: Carolyn Wilson, Louise Faver, Ida Atkinson, Juanita Pitts, Jane Davis, Wilma Carter. Vinson: Olive Massey, Lera Fata, Florel Prince, Cecilia Downs, Kathleen Youmans, Joyce Baskerville.

Young To Show Movies, Lecture

L. L. Young, assistant to the executive secretary of the Georgia Tuberculosis association, will speak and show motion pictures in conjunction with the fall tuberculosis education program, which is sponsored at GSCW by the Health club and department.

Mr. Young will show the sound picture to health classes in the Health and Physical Education Building at 9, 10, 2:40 and 3:40 o'clock. At 11 o'clock he will discuss the Christmas Seal Sale with members of the Health club, county and city leaders.

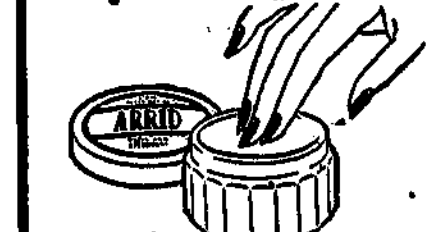

All faculty and student members interested are cordially invited to any or all of these meetings. If groups are planning to attend, the instructor should phone Mrs. Stewart Woolton, head of the health department, so that there will be adequate seats.

Tuberculosis is one of the communicable diseases that can be controlled through education. While great progress has been made—its control in the past 25 years—war conditions encourage rise in its death rate. Therefore the program for its control has become one of the major public health problems to be solved in wartime.

Lillian Middlebrooks, a member of Alpha Psi Omega, is chairman of the players.

State BSU Holds Meeting In Macon

Several GSCW students will participate in the state convocation program of the Baptist Student Union, at Mercer university, next weekend, Nov. 6-8. Martha Lois Roberts will speak and the Victory Sextet will sing. Members of the sextet are Kate McKemie, Muriel Mobley, Marian Ray, Carolyn Cox, Betty Walker, and Louise Reundtree.

"Youth for Christ Today and Tomorrow" will be the theme of the convention. Both student and adult leaders will speak at the student conference. Dr. Claude U. Broach, new associate southwide student secretary will be the principal speaker. Delegates from BSU's throughout the state are expected to attend.

All GSCW students who plan to attend the meeting must see Elizabeth Davison, in the Interdenominational Office, not later than next Monday at 12 o'clock. Registration fee is one dollar and other expenses include board, $2.75; and transportation (bus), $1.05.

Students' Health Records Checked

"Students are urged to check on their required inoculations according to an announcement from Parks Memorial hospital. Certificates must be submitted to the college hospital; otherwise students must be vaccinated at the hospital. The fee is one dollar.

Required vaccinations include the Schick test, three doses of typhoid vaccine every three years or three doses followed by one annually thereafter, and smallpox vaccination every five years.

All students who are uncertain about these records are urged to check at the hospital.

Brown Is Elected Cecilian President

Helen Brown has been elected president of the Cecilian Singers. Other officers are Marjorie Worsham, vice president; Louise Wynn, secretary; Doris Bacus, treasurer.

Representatives from the various dormitories will be elected as soon as possible.

SYMPATHY EXTENDED

Members of the student body and faculty of GSCW wish to extend their sincere sympathy to the family of Catherine Copeland, who was killed in an airplane accident last Saturday.

For The Wing War Service

Our College Theatre has announced that the entire proceeds of this first production, "Letters to Lucerne," will be contributed to the American Wing War Service. This organization sponsors the establishment of stage doccanteens and entertainment centers in army camps and naval centers.

We are proud of our GSCW College Theatre not only because it is making this gesture, but also because, in doing so, it chalks up another "first" for our campus. The College Theatre is one of the first groups in the South to respond to the request of the American Theatre Wing War Service organization. We hope that we, as individuals, can follow the example that the College Theatre has set up and do all we can to forward our nation's war effort.

We believe that GSCW owes the College Theatre a vote of appreciation. The way in which we can best do this is to attend the performance of "Letters to Lucerne" Thursday night. We are confident that we will not only indicate to the College Theatre that we admire what they are doing, but will enjoy two hours of fine entertainment.

Control That Heat!

If "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," we need to consider the heating situation on the campus before the problem becomes acute. This year buildings throughout the country will not be as warm as previously, because of the fuel shortage. We need to be conscious of this change and willing to cooperate during this time of national emergency.

Many dormitory rooms, in fact, most of them, have been poorly heated in the past, not because of insufficient heat, but because of too much heat. From a health standpoint, the requested adjustment is desirable. Through intelligent control of the situation in the individual rooms, less fuel will be used and a more constant temperature maintained, which will make the rooms decidedly more comfortable. It will take time for students to educate themselves in proper heating techniques, but it is a problem, both from the health and economics standpoint, that should be solved on the campus by cooperation of all of the occupants.

If all students will start now, at the beginning of cold weather, to assume their responsibility in this problem, serious difficulties can be prevented.

WIT'S END

Long Distance Calls Are The Spice Of Life; Pain In Neck

By JEWELL WILLIE

Long distance can be a great annoyance or a blessing in disguise. If it were not for the interminable waiting and the operators who chant all too nasally in our ears, "What number is this calling, please? Oh, the call to Whutville? I'm sorry, but we can't get a line through to Whutville yeyut. Hold the line and I will call you back." We wait not minutes but hours and seconds. We decide to call again. "Yeyus, I have the line to Whutville now. Shall I reverse the charges? I shan't? Wey-ul, I was just asking." We feel foolish trying to balance the receiver and find anything less than a quarter and more than a penny, primarily more than a penny. "Hullooo, here is your party. No, hold the line.....I'm very sorry but your party is not in. I will call you when I get a line through."

We pause for station identification.....There we feel better. We wonder where he can be; he should know that we always call him on his birthday. Ah, there's the 'phone. "Pardon me, who were you calling please? Well, here is your party now. Go ahead. Oh, deposit 15 cents please." We don't please, but we do. We become very excited at the thought of talking to HIM again, but can't seem to make HIM hear us. We realize that if we raise our voice one more tone that the housemother and everybody else will hear our sweet sentimentality. We'd never live it down. "Pardon me, I will try to get a better connection." We wait while the attempt is made.

Again that nasal twang...."I'm sorry but your party says that he doesn't know anybody at GSCW or even in Milledgeville." This is the last straw, we are being tilted and by long distance, too. We cancel the call so that our heart may break in peace. We start up to our room. Then the telephone rings. Long distance, Whutville calling us?

We try to explain composedly why we didn't call HIM on his birthday. Gone are the sweet sentimentalities.... We and HE end the conversation in a very undignified state of mind. We again start for the room. Again the telephone rings. "Your 15 cents will be refunded if you will call at the exchange. If you ever find out who you talked to first, let me know please.....Thank you, call again." We resolve to satisfy professional curiosity..... after all, maybe the operator knows Alexander Graham Bell.

TURGID WATERS

Washington (ACP)—As this is written, the Potomac is overrunning its banks; from the top of the Washington monument, one can see the turbid waters filling low areas throughout the District of Columbia. Six days and nights of steady rainfall have left Washington war workers, Congressmen, officials and "parasites" limp and damp and crochety.....

The wettest week in Washington history is also a week of the greatest historical significance to American colleges. Strong currents also are running through Congress and administrative offices. The bill to draft 18 and 19 year olds is about to be passed. The senators are wrestling with it now.

The bill may determine whether you continue your education and, if you do, what shape it may take during the remainder of your years, or months, in school.

Most teen-aged college students won't be called into military service until the end of this school year. This is particularly true of competent students, especially those taking scientific and technical courses.

The World This Week

By ETHEL HEMBREE

Mrs. Roosevelt, America's First Lady, is in London to repay the visit the King and Queen made to the White House three summers ago. It is generally understood that she will begin almost immediately her visits to the American camps and British service women's establishments to see as much as possible during her two or three weeks' visit.

The battle on Guadalcanal Island, termed a "minor thrust," still rages. Allied armies are striking in a wide-swinging North African offensive to destroy Marshal Edwin Rommel and his entire army.

The Senate Saturday night approved legislation for the drafting of 18 and 19-year-old youths, but banning their assignment to combat duty until they have finished a year of training in this country. The bill now goes back to the House for consideration of the Senate revisions.

The War Department has announced no results from the widespread search for Captain Eddie Rickenbacker and seven airmen. An intensive search has been in progress since last Wednesday by all available Army and Navy sky and sea forces.

Murder Permeates Air; Review Includes Thrillers

By NINA WILEY

Edith Howie calls her new book "Murder for Christmas," but Halloween is the time we are reminded that Death Goes Native (Max Long), and of the Aftermath of Murder (Mary Fitt). The story began when Hannah Lees wrote a Prescription for Murder While the Bells Rang (Charlie L. Clifford). After many Rehearsals for Murder (E. Ferras), A Pinch of Poison (Frances and Richard Lochridge) did the trick and The Ticking Heart (D. B. Olsen), ticked no more. This was Murder With Southern Hospitality (Leslie Ford), so the Smiling Corpse (Hilea Bailey), The Chuckling Fingers (Mable Sealey), and Death and the Dancing Coachman (Ngio Marsh), were not surprising. Working on the principle, If a Body (George Worthing Yates) Kill One, Kill Two, (W. W. Anderson), the murderer saw The Handwriting on the Wall (Milton Proper), and made his Return to the Scene (Q. Patrick). The Trial of Vincent Doon (Will Oursler), hung in the balance (Patricia Wentworth). Thousands anxiously awaited the fate until The Case of the Haunted Husband (Earle Stanley Gardner) crowded it from the front page. Goblins and ghosts and witches make us think of Nine Times Nine (H. H. Holmes), gruesome murders.

CAMPUS FASHIONS

By BETTY PARK

Margaret Johnson and Breezy (Louise) Wynn are massing colors this fall. Margaret looked positively grand in her lavender pleated skirt, and lavender fitted, heavy weave cardigan. She was topped with a matching bow. Breezy is sporting a luscious red wool pleated skirt and matching red slip-over.

Flo Finney looks more chic"ish" than scholar"ish" in her light-weight, sky-blue wool school dress. It is trimmed with square blue and silver buttons down front. It is shirred at the waist on each side of the skirt. It has a high neck, no collar, and three-quarter length sleeves.

Claudia McCorkle looks like Dresden china in her pastels. In particular, notice her dusty pink sweater.

Betty Pryor is off to Atlanta this week-end for the game. She's wearing a green ensemble of a herringbone weave. It's trimmed in brown beaver—with a touch at the waist and hem-line, and a square fur collar. The skirt and blouse is of the same material, but the blouse has dark green velvet sleeves and high collar.

Evelyn Jones is off to Macon this week-end in a winter-green suit with a box pleated skirt. She wore a white silk shirt with a scalloped collar, and she had silver wings perched on her jacket pocket.
